

Political Science Internships

What is an Internship?

An internship is a temporary supervised work experience designed to help you learn more about the field or industry and gain an introduction into skills utilized in this field. To make the most of your internship, you'll want to pick something that is in a field directly related to your major or career path. Internships may span 10-weeks in the summer or for the entirety of a semester.

To learn more about different internships sign into visit:

<http://web.utk.edu/~polisci/internships.php>

Popular Political Science Internships

Some popular past internships have included spending the spring semester participating in the Tennessee State Legislative Internships program. To learn more about this program visit:

<http://web.utk.edu/~polisci/legislative-internships.php>

